As the wind energy market has matured, the issues relating to the leasing of the surface property necessary to build wind farms have		Sponsored by Lorman Education become more sophisticated and complex. No longer will a land owner		☐ AICP ☐ CC blindly sign any lease offered. Negotiations in virtually all facets of the		☐ CLE wind lease, from lease compensation, uses and reserved rights to restoration security and renegotiation options, have become highly		E ENG evolved and creative. Land owners also are introducing new protections		pmi and presenting new proposals to share in the revenues of the wind farm		View Approved States
